CALGARY

CITY ON THE GROW

Here are the facts in Calgary's favor:
Canada's fastest-growing city with a 1968 population of 370,000. Calgary is the main gateway to the oil — and mineral-rich North, and the major crossroads of Western Canada. It's position as the major distribution centre for Western Canada is enhanced by its exceptional transportation facilities.
In Calgary, you may locate in your choice of twelve developed and fully serviced Industrial Parks. Cost starts at $6,500 per acre with all facilities. Other reasons for choosing Calgary are: a highly-trained 140,000-member labour force, an abundance of very low-cost natural gas and power, an ever-expanding market, a moderate climate, and no provincial or city sales tax! Get all the facts about Calgary and then decide.

Why build your plant in British Columbia's OKANAGAN VALLEY?

Because under the Federal Area Development Incentives Act, manufacturing and processing firms locating in the Okanagan may qualify for capital grants of up to one-third of the cost of new machinery and equipment and new buildings. Substantial Accelerated Capital Cost Allowances are also available.

Because the Okanagan is within easy reach of major markets in British Columbia, Alberta, Washington and Oregon. And the area offers a large pool of skilled and semi-skilled labour, abundant power and fresh water, and excellent transportation facilities.

Because living conditions are ideal. The Okanagan offers mild, dry climate . . . year-'round recreation including fishing, hunting, skiing . . . good schools and modern housing.

For complete information, including qualifications for an Area Development Grant, write:

May we give you a hand? And a handbook?

The Manitoba Department of Industry & Commerce exists to help industry grow and prosper. The better to do this, a new department organization parallels that of modern industry. The framework within which engineers and analysts, consultants and statisticians, geographers and economists function, along with specialists in transportation, tariffs, sales and production, has been wholly reorganized in the interests of both established and potential producers here in the province.

The ways in which the people in the Department of Industry & Commerce can operate as an arm of your business or industry and highlights of programs to help your business "Grow to Beat '70" are outlined in a new "Business Handbook".

This reference handbook belongs right on your desk. If it is not there already, we will be pleased to put it there. Call 946-7548 for your copy.

May we give you a hand?

When we say Ontario is Canada's Province of Opportunity

Ontario doesn't wait for opportunity to come knocking. We have a staff of economists, researchers and industrial experts working to find it. The business services offered by the Ontario Government are the most comprehensive in Canada. A brief description of some of these services follows:

Marketing: This service assists in the expansion of Ontario manufacturing and exports through foreign sales missions, international trade shows and other activities. The missions have been so successful, that in just six years they have produced over $214 million in initial sales.

Manufacturing Arrangements: If your company is looking for additional products or new processes, this is the service to take advantage of. In 1968 the service issued bulletins listing over 382 opportunities for manufacturing arrangements with companies both in Canada and abroad.

Plant Location: When you're looking for a prime industrial site, this is the place to start. The plant location experts can provide you with information on every municipality in Ontario with up-to-date data on transportation, manpower, taxes, raw materials, utilities, housing, financing and recreation facilities.

Joint Ventures: We assist you in joining forces with other companies, both here and abroad, with a view to marketing new products.

Research: The statistics division. In 1968 this group undertook 462 marketing studies to assist companies establishing or expanding manufacturing facilities. The publication, Statistics for Profit, provides detailed information on imports, exports and suggested products for development by Ontario industry.

Trade Offices Abroad: In a new approach to promoting Ontario's industrial and investment opportunities, its products and engineering services, the Government maintains mobile commercial representatives in trading areas throughout the world. We have offices in London, Dusseldorf, Milan, Stockholm, New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Cleveland, Boston, Atlanta and Kingston.

If you would like to see Ontario live up to its claim drop us a line. We'd like to help you.

Low-cost power makes Quebec stand out

Hydro-Quebec literally drives the wheels of Quebec industry with an abundance of electricity supplied at among the cheapest power rates in the world. Combine low-cost energy with an almost unlimited supply of raw materials, skilled labour, excellent transportation and proximity to North American and European markets . . . and it's easy to see why Quebec stands out as an industrial location. Quebec's electricity sales have soared 56% in the past four years — dramatic proof that more and more companies are finding that it pays to locate and expand in Quebec.

Hydro-Quebec has such strong faith in Quebec's industrial future that it plans to spend $1.4 billion expanding generation, transmission and distribution facilities by the end of 1972. Low-cost power will continue to make Quebec stand out in future.

Power generates growth:

Québec IS POWER

Abundant electric power...skilled manpower...powerful communications

Mr. Businessman: Do you know that Québec's highly developed communications systems actually generate more business? Navigation on the St. Lawrence River, almost entirely a Québec waterway, makes it possible for merchant ships from all over the world to penetrate into the heart of North America. Road transport facilities are constantly expanding, new modern highways being constantly added to the present vast network of autoroutes and expressways. Railroads have been specially constructed to open up the vast northern territories of Québec to mining and industry and the head offices of Canada's two national railroads are in Montréal.

In air transportation, Montréal's Dorval International Airport is one of the most important in the world. Both the International Civil Aviation Organization and the International Air Transport Association are headquartered in Montréal. Montréal has, too, an electronic telephone switching centre, one of the first in Canada. Québec's highly modern communications systems facilitate world-wide trade exchanges.

Industries locating in Québec are assisted by government fiscal incentives and investment premiums. Tax reductions are allowed, through deduction from taxable profits, of 30% of capital invested during this same period. During the same period, in specified zones, corporations are granted premiums up to 40% of capital invested in approved projects.

Why not investigate? Write to Québec Department of Industry and Commerce, Place D'Youville, Québec City, Québec.

GUIDE TO CLASSIFIED INDEX

☆ THE METHOD OF INDEXING the material on the succeeding pages is that by which the most important word in headings is generally placed first. The arrangement then proceeds in the proper alphabetical order. In the majority of cases it will be found that the noun or main name comes first, i.e.—Furniture, office; Hardware, builders'; Leather, boot and shoe upper, etc. This allows the grouping of all similar articles close together. In other cases, where the inversion seems unnatural, the headings have been listed as they run—Air Appliances; Fire Escapes, etc. In all cases we have endeavored to use the names most commonly known. Cross references have been supplied where two or more names are used to describe the same article. For the complete list of headings and cross references please refer to the Index of Products which begins on page 2 of Section F.

Street addresses of the firms listed in the classified section are shown in the alphabetical list of names (Section B) immediately preceding the Geographical Section.

Attention is also called to the French Index of articles which follows the Product Index in Section F. In limited editions a Spanish Index or a Portuguese Index appears instead of the French Index.

Firms before whose name an asterisk appears are engaged or seriously interested in Export Trade.

We shall be glad to have the opportunity of giving additional information to any manufacturer or user of the Canadian Trade Index. No charge is made for this service.
